WE NOMINATE

The 300 young men and women—the majority of them affiliated with Princeton educational institutions—who next Wednesday and Thursday evenings (October 14 and 15) in McCarter Theater will launch one of the most significant fund-raising ventures in Princeton history with the First Annual United Festival of Song. Ten different vocal groups, all well-known in this community and several with world-wide reputations, will pool their forces, and remarkable individual talents, in strengthening and dramatizing the appeal of the United Fund for a record-breaking goal of $212,000.

Aside from the promotional aspects of this undertaking, which is the brain-child of Herbert Windsor Hobler, 37-year old New York sales executive, and is already scheduled for a coast-to-coast hook-up over the CBS Radio Network, it is highly probable that the United Festival of Song could not be duplicated in any other community in these United States. All of the participants are full-time residents of Princeton, or are students here, and together represent the many races, creeds and convictions that make up America as well as a united program of song focusing attention on the needs of 18 United Fund agencies.

The quality of next week's two Festival performances can be calibrated on the basis of the five contributing "formal organizations." Both the Westminster Choir, thrice commissioned by United States Presidents as "good-will ambassadors" for the country, and the 30-voice Princeton Theological Seminary Choir have performed with distinction in all parts of the world. The 103-year old Princeton University Glee Club, tracing its origins back to a combined town and gown group known as "Mannerchor," regularly tours the Eastern Seaboard, while the Columbus Boychoir and the Princeton High School Choir have few peers in their respective spheres of excellence.

Balancing the larger groups will be an equal number of less formal singing units, several of which fly meaningful Princeton names: the Nassoons, Tigertones, Palmer Squares, Princeton Male Chorus and "The Opposite Sextette." The last-named, several of whose members have husbands singing with the Palmer Squares, is composed of seven young mothers who can now proudly point to a total of 17 children as well as to distinguished records in community activities. The Male Chorus, founded in 1934 and directed by Mrs. Bessie Christian, organist of the First Baptist Church, has an amazing repertoire of spirituals.

In a sense the upcoming Festival, representing weeks of planning on the part of its sponsors, symbolizes the tremendous, and at times orderly, growth of the Princeton Community in the post-World War II period. One of the participating institutions became part of Princeton shortly after V-J Day, one organization was established in 1947 and two others were brought into being within the past four years. Even more important, from the point of view of the United Community Fund, is the "unprecedented degree of cooperation and interest at a time when we must meet the growing needs of an expanding population."

For sensing the opportunities offered by the "universal language of music;" for cheerfully giving of their time and abilities to the common cause of community well-being; for giving new impetus to a program too many Princetonians take for granted; these 300 men and women are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

THE PACE QUICKENS

In Political Campaign. "Turner Talks Turkey on Borough Problems," the statement issued by the Republican mayoralty candidate this week proclaimed. Whatever the language, the long-time professional photographer who is seeking to replace Mayor Raymond F. Male in Borough Hall left no doubt as to his opinions on the latter's record since he took office in January, 1958.

Charging that the present Democratic administration is one of "No action," or "government by postponement," Mr. Turner declared that " open government' is no substitute for really open, earnest, forthright, forceful administration, and that discussions are a forerunner to solutions, not a substitution for them." Mr. Turner took specific exception to:

● Failure to appoint a successor to Councilman Maurice Mathe, who resigned last February, as well as unfilled vacancies on other municipal bodies and the lack of a lieutenant in the police department.

● Delay in action to provide the town with a joint public library, a move he charged to Mayor Male in the face of Township willingness to act this fall.

● A "growing rift" between Princeton's two governing bodies ("Relations between the two governments seem to be the worst in years.")

● The "lack of progress in slum-clearance, in housing, Urban Renewal and the new street linking east-west roads. . .surely some progress can be shown, some decisions made in 21 months of quibbling and stalemate."

Democrats Cite Economy. Pledging that "Ben Franklin thrift will continue to be the cornerstone of the Borough fiscal policy," Mayor Male pointed this week to the fact that the tax rate for local purposes has been cut in each year of his administration. This was effected, he said, "even while meeting the need for higher employee salaries and wages, and maintaining essential borough services at a high level of efficiency."

Stressing the point that "every penny of Borough funds has received careful attention," the Democratic incumbent reported that "idle cash is invested until needed to pay municipal obligations, purchasing practices are strict and charges for borough services have been realistically revised in the taxpayers' interest." He cited his administration's policy of purchasing gasoline and fuel oil from competitive bidding as a major saving to the people.

CONSOLIDATION URGED

By Township Democrats. Township candidates Henry S. Dyer and Richard T. Frost declared this week that the issue of consolidation (defeated by both municipalities in 1953) will be immediately re-examined if they are elected this fall. "We will lend every assistance as office - holders to its proponents," they promised, adding:

"There is only one Princeton. Human logic cannot long support a protracted, artificial division of this community. At some point, we will be in a ludicrous position with double services in every department all addressed at essentially the same problem — how to manage the orderly progress of a rapidly growing community.

"United, we could direct that growth while retaining the unique character of Princeton. Divided, we will become increasingly bogged down in jurisdictional hassles over issues which are issues for Princeton — not for a borough or a township. The people of this community deserve better than this."

Republicans Stand on Record. In the face of Democratic charges that "the Township cannot long survive the outmoded administrative arrangements in Township Hall if Princeton remains unconsolidated," GOP candidates Thomas P. Cook and John S. Mount find the Township "experiencing a standard of progressive government unsurpassed by any municipality in New Jersey."

They point to action taken by Republican members of the governing body in effecting legislative changes enabling the Township to split the cost of building sidewalks with the property owner (who once paid the entire freight), and in making possible a joint Borough - Township library. They stress the quick use of Federal funds to develop a Master Plan, which will assure orderly growth for 15 years and more. Rezoning for increased research and business use is stressed as a community asset, as is the provision for major circulation streets to prevent future congestion.

Not only at the national level but also insofar as races for top state offices are concerned, 1959 is politically an "off year." In the best American tradition, upwards of a dozen Princetonians are seeking to arouse their fellow voters' interest in what they feel are the issues at stake; a month before the polls open, there is good indication that an unusually high degree of attention will be focused on the 1959 race at the Princeton level.

PRECAUTIONS LISTED

Against Encephalitis. With the death toll in southern New Jersey standing at 19 from Eastern Equine Encephalitis, Borough Health Officer David T. Blake reported this week that Princeton has no trace of the disease. The State Department of Health has advised that it is non-existent among humans and horses in this community.

From Rocky Hill, however, came word that two horses and some 300 pheasants have died within the past month from what is believed to be a form of the disease. Dr. Roscoe Kandle, state Health Commissioner, promptly reported that there is no cause for alarm, and that there is no connection between this outbreak and the human toll along the New Jersey shore area.

Dr. Kandle declared that "this problem of encephalitis attacking birds has been with us for 30 years. We've never heard of a single case of the disease being spread directly from animals to humans," he declared.

Two horses owned by Henry Young, a farmer who lives on Montgomery Avenue in Rocky Hill, have reportedly contracted the disease. One was destroyed last weekend.

Dr. Oscar Sussman of Princeton, chief of the State Veterinary Public Health Bureau, has quarantined 17 bird farms in various parts of New Jersey, including one owned by J. M. Madison of Franklin Road near Rocky Hill, where 300 pheasants have died since Labor Day.

Health authorities emphasize that the disease is not transmitted by animals but by a certain breed of Mosquito (the Culisita Melanura) and that the Mercer County Mosquito Commission reports none of this type has ever been found in this county. Spraying of areas where mosquitoes are prevalent is being carried on; meanwhile, these precautions are advised:

Prevent exposure to mosquitoes in woodland areas; use insect repellent; and empty swimming pools and all other receptacles holding water where mosquitoes can breed.

PERSONALITIES

James S. Hill, 152 Galbraith Drive, and Woodrow Wirsig, 687 Ewing Street, authors of the first articles this fall in TOWN TOPICS' traditional "Why I Plan to Vote" series, Mr. Hill, an attorney for Johnson and Johnson in New Brunswick, speaks out for the Republican candidates in Princeton Township; Mr. Wirsig, editor of the trade publication, Printer's Ink, is just as wholeheartedly behind the Democrats in that municipality. For a look at their opinions, see page 15.

William S. Dix, 139 Broadmead, whose career in furthering the nation's world leadership in library affairs last week received well-merited recognition with his installation as chairman of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO. A member of the commission for the past three years, the University's Librarian will intensify his work in assembling materials that will broaden man's understanding, particularly in underdeveloped and politically - uncommitted nations.

Renewal OK'd Again

The Federal Housing Administrator has recertified the Borough's Urban Renewal program, which means that Princeton is still eligible for assistance under the 1954 Housing Act.

In the past year, the Borough has perfected several elements of its program, according to Federal officials. These include amending the public officer law to make it acceptable as a housing code, adopting the National Board of Fire Underwriters' Code, reviewing the building code, revising the master plan and restudying the land use plan.

In addition, the Borough constructed two new play areas, built parking yards; more than doubled the appropriation for building inspection and increased the appropriation for the health department, and studied the selection of possible housing sites for relocated families.

At present, a suit by property owners in the Urban Renewal area against Borough Mayor and Council, the Housing Authority and the Planning Board is in the hands of the state Supreme Court. A decision may be handed down in two or three months, Borough officials believe.

From Town Topics, Question of the Week, September 24. Mrs. Fred Briggs, The Great Road: "I certainly agree that inflation exists, and that it affects buying habits. However there are understanding merchants in Princeton such as Mr. Levine who do their best to keep prices down."

A SLICE HERE, A SLICE THERE: Borough engineers have plans for reducing the congestion at the Nassau, Vandeventer and Washington Road intersection. For further information, see story this page.

TOPICS Of the Town

"THE MOST CONGESTED" Intersection Needs Remodeling. Arthur Brokaw, Borough engineer who recently announced plans for requesting state highway aid in revamping the Vandeventer intersection, has sketched in more detail exactly what he hopes can be done to redesign what he calls "the most congested intersection in the Borough."

Mr. Brokaw hopes to widen Washington Road on the west side only, as indicated by the white line in the picture above. The University Library's low wall would be removed so that a sidewalk could be laid, and then rebuilt west of the sidewalk.

Across Nassau, the corner by the Methodist church would be sliced off and the traffic light relocated. (The tree nearest Nassau would be left standing and the curve of the curbing would taper off next to it.)

The widening of Washington would provide four lanes, assuming that no parking were allowed on the street. In such a situation, the left-hand-turn cars could all be in one lane so that they would not hold up traffic. Or, in an alternative pattern, two lanes might be for northbound traffic into Nassau and one for southbound traffic.

The state is also checking the signals, according to Mr. Brokaw, with the idea of working out a new schedule of lights. It is even possible that "pedestrian time" can be worked into the signals so that pedestrians could cross while all traffic stopped.

So far as the ancient elm on Washington is concerned, Mr. Brokaw says that its plight is "unforunate," but that it is encroaching on the pavement anyhow. "This is an intolerable situation which is potentially dangerous," Mr. Brokaw says. "We feel that perhaps the danger is more important than the tree."

$100,000 GOAL SET For Special Gifts Division. The Special Gifts Division of the United Community Fund has a goal in the 1959 campaign of $100,000, nearly half of the fund's total goal of $212,000, division chairman Clement V. Conole has announced. The division's campaign staff includes 10 "team captains" and 100 volunteer workers.

Captains include Mrs. Taylor Woodward, Arthur Sherwood, Mrs. Roger Kirkpatrick, Robert V. Dilley, John H. Meyers, Albridge C. Smith 3d, G. J. Nugge, Wiley Critz, Philip Williams and Mrs. Coleman Donaldson. Calls began last weekend on 425 selected givers and two contributions, totalling $3,000, have been announced.

"We have stressed in our campaign literature the three new agencies which have discontinued their separate campaigns," Mr. Conole said. "This is chiefly the reason for a goal which is $35,000 more than last year. Success this year requires the most generous giving in our history."

JUNIOR GALLERY PLANNED At Arts Festival. Children will be able to try their hands at creative art at the Junior Gallery division of the Festival of the Arts, which will be held at Miss Fine's School on Saturday, October 17. Easels will be set up on which youngsters can paint and draw and equipment for stencils drawings, silk screenings, tapestry and pottery will be provided.

The potter's wheel will be under the supervision of Miss Nanci Houghton. Jules Benbenek will demonstrate glass blowing, while Mrs. Leonard Temko will illustrate "origami," the art of folding paper, and John Hildebrand will do charcoal drawings of children. The gallery will be open from 10 to 5.

A puppet show will be presented by Elizabeth Aall, Paula Cook and Martha Sichel, students at Miss Fine's School. Pupils from the eighth grade at the school will assist in other demonstrations and presentations.

MAYOR FAIRMAN REPORTS Township Looks Ahead. It is indicative of the kind of service Princeton gets from its volunteer public officials that R. Kenneth Fairman, Township mayor who has a full-time job elsewhere, often spends valuable mid-week time in his Township Hall office. On such an afternoon this week, Mr. Fairman commented on the Township's new zoning amendment which allows office use of the research and engineering zones. Mr. Fairman said that the Township has begun to move ahead, if slowly, on the creation of a citizens committee to find rateables which would be interested in the newly-zoned area. Such a committee was proposed some months ago.

"We talked about a committee like that," Mayor Fairman said, "but we got our heads in a sewer, so to speak, and we feel that the problem of getting a sanitary engineer's sewer plan just has to come first."

Township engineer Calvin Schofield says that a consulting sanitary engineer will, hopefully, be chosen by the end of October so that a sewer master plan can be completed by March, 1960, or before the start of the coming construction season.)

The committee Mr. Fairman has in mind would be composed of Township citizens whose professions keep them in touch with business firms on the lookout for places to locate. So far, no actual appointments have been made.

Members of Township Committee have talked with real estate firms in Boston and Philadelphia that specialize in locating business and research companies, Mr. Fairman said.

The amending ordinance, passed Thursday night, allows general office use, whether it is connected with research or not, in Township areas zoned for research. The amendment was prepared at the request of Research Park, but its provisions apply in any research area.

According to its terms, there can be a general sales office (no retail sales allowed) which handles wholesale contracts by mail or phone. Or the office might be the statistical or fiscal branch of a company.

At Thursday night's meeting, Stanley C. Smoyer, Township Committeeman, spoke of the amendment as "broadening the base of tax ratables in the community without changing the essential character of the community."

Dilman M. K. Smith, president of Research Park, has said that his firm has had half a dozen requests from organizations interested in locating in Princeton Township.

Budget Deadlines Advanced. "We'd like time for this kind of 'forward-thinking'," Mr. Fairman said, "so we've tightened up our budget schedule for this year. Our department heads will have their budgets in by October 15, and we hope for a tentative Township budget by Christmas — usually it's been late February or March."

Newly-elected committeemen will be asked to sit in on Township meetings after election, Mr. Fairman said, "to help with the spade work."

Early in January, the lawyers and engineers will begin to work out public works ordinances which will be presented in a batch instead of trailing out over the year, as they do now. Mr. Fairman said. "With those ordinances out of the way," he added, "we can do some planning for the future."

One aspect of the future in Princeton Township is the possibility of multiple housing, and Township Committeemen said on Thursday that the Planning Board sub-committee concerned with this problem is still receiving the questionnaires it sent out last summer to business organizations asking for information on the housing needs of their employees.

"This will provide a factual hubwark," Committeeman William Marvel pointed out, "for action by the sub-committee."

In further action on Thursday night, Committee accepted the resignation of Ralph Mason as Planning Board chairman, with thanks for his 15 months of service . . . recommended to the Planning Board that it appoint Sam Frothingham as chairman to succeed Mr. Mason (which the Board did Monday night) . . . announced that meetings will begin shortly with West Windsor Township, Rocky Hill Borough and Montgomery Township on roads, the meetings held at Princeton Township's request . . . announced that conferences are being held with County and Borough officials on the roads and traffic aspects of the Township Master Plan . . . passed the ordinance providing sewers to Harrison Street north of Franklin.

The heat was on, all right, and apparently set to stay on for a while. Longe-range forecasts for October indicate the temperature will remain well above normal (55 to 60) for this part of the nation.

The past week had seen it top 80 with considerable frequency, and thoughts of frost were still far away. Such heat could bring showers at the end of almost any day, but no real rain is in sight through the coming weekend.

News Of The THEATRES

CORNELL COMES TO TOWN

In Shaw Adaptation. Appearing in a drama based on the letters of Bernard Shaw, Katharine Cornell will come to McCarter Theater Monday night under the auspices of Dana Attractions, Inc., for her first appearance in Princeton in almost 20 years. All tickets for the performance have been sold, but standing room will go on sale at the McCarter box-office at 7:30 Monday evening.

The production, "Dear Liar," is adapted by Jerome Kitty from the correspondence of Shaw and Mrs. Pat Campbell. Opposite Miss Cornell will be Brian Aherne, who first appeared with the actress in 1931 in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

"Dear Liar" has been costumed by Cecil Beaton. Lighting has been arranged by Jean Rosenthal and incidental music by Sol Kaplan. Mr. Kitty has directed his own adaptation of the Shaw-Campbell letters.

MR. MOSS' "TEMPEST"

Seeks "Living Audience." Arnold Moss, the veteran Shakespearean actor, is seeking what he calls a "living audience" in his eight-week tour of colleges and universities. He will bring Shakespeare's "Tempest" to McCarter next Saturday, October 17, for a single evening performance.

"A truly vital theatre is what we dream of," says Mr. Moss, "and if there is to be such a theatre tomorrow, the demand for it must be born today among the students in our schools and colleges."

Dana Attractions, sponsors of Mr. Moss' Princeton appearance, has made available a special student ticket price for the performance: a regular priced orchestra seat at $3.85 is available to all students for $3 as long as the supply lasts.

"ON EAGLES' WINGS"

Inbal Dancers Here. The bare-footed dancers of Inbal, the Dance Theater of Israel, came to McCarter Sunday and Monday nights with a program of dances, derived from the folk lore of the Yemenite Jews of southern Arabia. The evenings prohibited for the large McCarter audiences a mixture of pleasure, interest and disappointment.

For Sunday night's performance, the first number "Dassah," was omitted "for the interests of giving you the best possible performances" according to the Inbal official who made the announcement. The inescapable conclusion was that "Dassah" was simply not ready for the public and this conclusion was reinforced by the number that did launch the program, a series of dances called "On Eagles' Wings."

These dances, executed in authentic Yemenite costumes of original Yemenite songs, were written last year to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the end of Yemenite Jewish exile. Taking as their theme the lines from Exodus, "And I ha e bore you on eagles' wines and brought you unto Myself," the dances delineate the sufferings of exile and the longing for freedom.

The songs are interesting to Western ears and the costumes are curiosities, but the costumes despite their link to the wings of the eagle, never quite get off the ground and the longing for freedom never gets into the pantomime and intensity that an audience has a right to expect.

Body Control Lacking. In addition, this first series of dances revealed a basic weakness in the Inbal troupe — a certain sloppiness in execution and a lack of the prime requirement of the dancer, absolute control over his body.

One could not help making comparisons with Russia's Moiseyev troupe which uses essentially the same kind of material; that is, ethnic patterns re-worked for the modern stage. The body control exhibited by the Moiseyev dancers was almost miraculous, and while this kind of discipline cannot be expected in every troupe, still one is surprised to see dancers who teeter when they stand on one leg or who have to brace themselves briefly with their hands when they execute a series of cross-stage leaps with deep knee bends.

"The Queen of Sheba," replacing "Dassah," was a brilliantly

Oriental piece of pagentry, costumed in blazing hues of orange, gold, black and steel blue and choreographed with humor by Sara Levi-Tanai. In this number the audience saw for the first time the extend to which Oriental art forms have been infused into the culture of the Yemenite Jews.

The dances in "Sheba" are excitingly barbaric and the accompaniment of wood block, sheepskin drum, tambourine and flute makes a magnificent cacophany.

Story Lines Blurred. In "Desert," the Inbal company danced to Oriental - Arabic melodies, sketching out the desert way of life in a series of vignettes on death, love, camels, play, mirage and so on. Here again, as in "Eagles' Wings," the story lines were blurred, so that in spite of the program captions, one felt impelled to ask, "What's happening?" or "What does this mean?"

The final scene of "Desert," showing a girl in orange robes against a blue sky, epitomized as movingly as any choreography the lonely beauty of desert life.

Perhaps the most impressive numbers were "Song of Deborah" in which Margalith Oved danced and spoke a taunt and burning Prophetess, and "Women," a deliciously light work in which grinding, kneading and drawing water were played in counterpoint against each other and against the perfectly charming laughter and chatter of a group of gossipy women.

For program annotators: the audience would have liked to know more about the troupe (are they all Yemenite Jews?) and something about the musical instruments which included a dulcimer, some sort of wood block and fascinating vase-shaped drums

MEET THE CAST

Of "The Cave Dwellers." Veterans and newcomers have been assigned to leading roles in the forthcoming Community Players' production of William Saroyan's "The Cave Dwellers" which will be given on three successive weekends, starting October 16 and 17.

Robert Wren and Shirley Kauffman will assume the roles of King and Queen. Mr. Wren, an English instructor at Douglass College, served as director for the Theatre Intime and the Svoyanis while he was a graduate student at Princeton. He has been as Lussurio in "The Revenger's Tragedy" and Adolphe in "Ondine."

Mrs. Kauffman has appeared before Princeton audiences in "You Never Can Tell" and "The Revenger's Tragedy."

Ted D'Arms, who is now studying with Uta Hagen, will play The Duke. Mr. D'Arms has appeared in summer stock with the Plymouth Drama Festival, the Ashland Shakespeare Festival and the Williamstown Summer Theater

Jill Fremon, freshman at Princeton High School and a member of the Junior Community Players, will play The Girl, and John Talbot will play "The Father. Mr. Talbot has had wide and varied theatrical experience, having appeared in "Antigone," "St. Joan," "Mikado" and "Pinafore."

Other parts will be taken by Stanley Garber, Reed Armstrong, Richard Coleman, Judy Walton, George Novicki, Katherine Post and Jayne Andrews.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The FBI Story (October 7-13) is a remarkable success, considering the difficulties under which its producers must have labored. It is essentially not a story at all, but a collection of scenes and incidents illustrating the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. They are tied together through the device of focussing on the career of James Stewart, who plays a mythical FBI agent who is directly or indirectly involved in an implausible number of cases ranging from Pretty Boy Floyd to the recent bombing of an airliner by a young man who wanted to collect the life insurance of his mother, who was a passenger on the plane.

Stewart is excellent and his character is entirely believable and likable. Vera Miles does a competent job as his wife, who seems abnormally distraught about the dangers inherent in his job, but the film is least successful when it concentrates on their personal life and it does this far too much. The actual FBI cases are uniformly well-done and often extremely suspenseful. The great number of cases prevents the establishment of real depth in many of them, but the producers have wisely devoted most time to the recent crimes and skimmed over the traditional and better known ones. The film is in Technicolor.

Anatomy of a Murder (October 14-20) is a fine courtroom drama, a faithful and often clinically exact adaptation of the spirit and much of the matter of the best-seller by Robert Traver. The excellent cast includes James Stewart, Lee Remick, Ben Gazzara, Arthur O'Connell, Eve Arden, Joseph N. Welch and Kathryn Grant. Duke Ellington contributed the jazz-influenced underscore.

Stewart is a small-town lawyer who, at the request of Miss Remick, takes on the defense of her husband, Gazzara, who murdered a man who had roped her. The film moves a bit slowly during the early scenes, in which this background is established, but as soon as the cameras move into the courtroom the pace picks up and continues at a high, sometimes even excrutiating, level for the rest of the picture's two hours

A ROOM WITH A VIEW

Early American Style. The exquisite little pieces of hand-made Colonial doll-house furniture which Stuff 'n Nonsense has had for the past year, are now arranged in little rooms, which have been decorated in the Provincial style to show off the warmth of wood and grain.

The rooms have side walls set at a wide angle so that householders can arrange the furniture with ease. Wallpaper is a small Provincial print and floor covering is a kind of wallpaper which looks like wood. The family pewter has been arranged on the hutch, the smooth little desk drawers are ready to slide out and receive grandfather's will, and the small four-poster is ready to receive grandfather.

Timpo models, those wonderfully realistic little unbreakable figures, now include some resplendent knights jousting away with Indians and Romans in chariots and goodness knows what all. The imaginative child can simply escape Time altogether and set them all to battle with each other. There is a hucolic shepherd and his flock, for quieter souls.

The models come in sets of various sizes, the big one holding 16 pieces for $4.50. Figures are standard "toy soldier" size—about two inches.

Stuff's flick-of-the-wrist helicopter is back in stock. It's a five-inch machine attached to a four-foot-long spring.

The spring is inside a wind-up mechanism like a fishing reel and you control the zooming and soaring of the helicopter by the turns of your wrist as you wind the thing in and out. (Blades of the helicopter are flexible plastic in case little brother gets too close.)

The lambs in Spain are woolly in quite a different way from the lambs in New Jersey, and the Spanish lambs-wool poodle at Stuff is quite different from most of the stuffed poodles you find in the better kennels. This one, 15 inches tall and $9 high, has been clipped in a natural manner which makes him look better than most live dogs. He's cream with grey streaks.

Three Little Pigs blocks, though made of cardboard and presumably pig soup for any wolf, are actually strong enough to resist the huffing and puffing of even a four-year-old. There are 20 units for $6 in a box, designed so that several bricks are painted on to one unit.

Family elves can be set to work on some new clocks from West Germany. One has its own Kuckuck, which chirps out every 15 minutes, but maybe that can be remedied somehow. Clocks adhere to the standard Black Forest school of design, ranging in price from $4.50 to $8.50, with all the works included.

Collected Works. At The Witherspoon Art and Book Shop on Spring Street, scholars will find the complete works of Alexander Hamilton, brought togeiher in 12 volumes by Henry Cabot Lodge. The edition is the Putnam Knickerbocker, price $40 the set.

There is also Arthur Brooks Lapsley's Knickerbocker edition of Lincoln's papers, eight volumes for $30, and two sets of Woodrow Wilson's five-volume History of the American People.

Mrs. Hoadley, who presides over the shop, considers that she has a real prize in her de luxe edition of the 11th, or scholars', edition of the Britannica. This set, bound in limp leather, is $60. A final prize in the collected-works corner is Bancroft's History of the United States, 1848, all seven volumes.

Head First

A Swoppet might be thought of as a moppet who likes to swap, and in the case we are about to consider, that concept is absolutely correct.

At Stuff 'n Nonsense, there is a collection of flexible plastic figures, cowboys and Indians, about an inch and a half high. The Indians are resolutely aiming arrows at the cowboys who are either drawing, fast, or else expiring in various anguished poses.

What you do is to take off a cowboy's head or his torso and put it on the legs or torso of another cowboy, or even an Indian, if you're feeling pixilish. The figures are, in short, fastened together like pop beads and this construction means that they can not only be taken apart, but turned as though they were jointed.

Swoppets also have guns that come out of holsters and mounted Indians that can be taken off their horses, if they are slain in battle. Send the scouts on ahead—looks like trouble tonight!

usually early may browse through a few-of-a-kind collection of new books which Mrs. Hoadley has just assembled. There is the Undicesima Triennale, an Italian volume on architecture and industrial design, an apparently definitive and certainly vintage, volume on the wines of Italy and a biography of Daguerre.

For other tastes, "Great Sea Stories" and a handsome edition of the Apocrypha. Can't ask for more variety than that.

One rainy, jig-saw puzzle kind of afternoon, Mrs. Hoadley ordered some jig-saws and they have apparently multiplied to such an extent that the puzzle of the moment seems to be, where to put them? These are made of heavy cardboard, some with as many as 700 pieces, all designed to frustrate and captivate.

Got the Dough? The Swedes, who like to eat as well as to design, have combined both pleasures in a new cooky cutter. You buy a roller to which you attach any of four metal cutters, circle, heart, scallop or star. To look at the metal cutter, you would never guess the kind of pattern it will cut when you roll it across the dough, but Princeton Gourmet, where these are available, says that everything turns out all right.

Also from Sweden, a beater in a jar for people who like to make their own mayonnaise. The plastic top is cup-shaped with a small hole in the bottom. Put the oil in the top and it dribbles through the hole at just the right speed for perfect mayonnaise.

Buy new canisters in white enamel decorated with straight, unequal rows of little blue ducks, a blue top, or another set in natural wood with "coffee", "tea" and so on inscribed in various languages.

Can't possibly use last spring's tea towel now that it's fall, so buy a one dollar Vera linen towel in some rich autumnal palette, like the pineapple one in brown, grey and tan, or the tomato one in which red tomatoes are arranged against pink, or the one with little carrots and a row of peas still snuggled in the shell.

In the bar, Gourmet has a hydrometer to check the alcoholic content of your drink. It is not recommended that you take one to a party. There is also a battery operated swizzle stick which can also be used to whip cream.

The gift department has a set for salt, pepper and mustard from Denmark. They are cylinders of teak with flat colored tops, red yellow or black and round as poker chips. A small tray carries all. Or you may buy salt and pepper, with red or black tops and no tray.

Taverneau wood has been used for some appealing accessory dishes, like half a pineapple, a butterfly and a punctured fish to hold hors d'oeuvers on toothpicks. What taverneau is, we leave to you. Presumably a tree on which taverneau grow. It's Haitian.

Orrefors, makers of incomparable glassware, has a new little bowl with notes, pipes and wings of song. (But the notes are backwards.) There is also a new pattern in the Orrefors line, this one with a square-cut stem.

We finish where we began, in Sweden. Boda sends over a set of four glasses, clear as a martini, with copper etched figures on the side. First glass shows two men in a bar.

Second glass, they argue. Third glass, they knock each other down. Fourth glass, they weave away, each supporting the other.

On the smallest cocktail glasses, these silhouetted figures are only one and one-half inches high and even on the highballs, they are a scant two inches. One could hardly ask for a more understated piece of humor.

and forty minutes. The drama is in the courtroom battle, the fights over evidence, the crafty cross-examinations. Welch, making his acting debut as the judge, turns up as a first-rate character actor and doles out comic relief in great chunks. To our mind, there is no question of bad taste in the picture, but the facts of the crime and subsequent medical examination are gone over in minute detail and parents who take the little ones along should be prepared to answer some questions afterward. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

Wild Strawberries (October 7-10), in Swedish with English titles, is one of the year's great artistic successes. Written and directed by the brilliant Ingmar ("Smiles of a Summer Night") Bergman, the film concerns a 79-year-old retired professor of medicine who reaches a turning point in his life on a journey to receive an honorary degree.

The wild strawberries of the title are seen by the professor, magnificently played by Victor Seastrom, when he visits his childhood home. They evoke memories of a time when he was a more open, warm, adventurous person and point up how withdrawn and proud he has been through most of his adult life. His trip is shown in detail, including meeting with a quarrelsome married couple, a pair of exuberant hitch-hikers, and his 96-year-old mother. His realization of the tragedy of his life and his last-ditch attempts to reverse the pattern of his final years is sketched vividly, both directly and symbolically. The impact of this powerful drama is reinforced by a superb technical production. Recommended.

The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit (October 12) manipulates stock characters and situations so skillfully that the result is a continuously diverting and perceptive motion picture. The enterprise is aided by Nunnally Johnson's fine adaptation of Sloan Wilson's indifferently written best-seller, a cast including Gregory Peck, Jennifer Jones, Frederick March, Marisa Pavan, Lee J. Cobb and Keenan Wynn and a handsome production in Cinema-Scope and color.

Peck is a Madison Avenue type who differs from his fellows in two important ways((1) he is better looking, and (2) he has integrity, see? He lives with his wife (Miss Jones) in suburban New York and the pleasantness of his private life is soured by the fact that in his highly paid public relations job he must compromise his principles.

The business intrigue, good of its type, takes second place in this film to the personal problems of Peck, who is providing financial support for a child he fathered in Italy during the War, and his boss, March, who is magnificient as a successful but lonely man who desperately wants to regain the love of his wife and daughter. The climactic scene in which Peck tells Miss Jones of his illegitimate child, is a powerful and emotional achievement. The film is a 1956 release. Recommended.

Look Back in Anger (October 13-17) is the screen adaptation of the successful play by John Osborne, who is one of the few among Britain's Angry Young Men who is not only angry but virtually apoplectic. Osborne collaborated with Nigel Kneale on the screenplay, which is a fairly exact reproduction of the spirit of the play, although the character of Jimmy Porter has been made a little more sympathetic. The highly competent, if sometimes stagy, cast includes Richard Burton, Claire Bloom and Mary Ure. Harry Saltzman produced the film in England.

Porter (Burton) is the prototype Angry, a young man who prefers to run a candy stall although he has had a university education. Although he apparently loves his wife (Miss Ure) he abuses her until she leaves him, at which time he becomes involved with her best friend, Miss Bloom, whom he has always despised. Through it all he throws his arms about and rants about the Diminished Position of Great Britain in the Modern World (Sample: "It's no fun living in the American Age — unless, of course, you're an American."). There is undoubtedly some truth and dramatic insight in his character and the message of the film is conveyed persuasively. Chris Barber and his band provide the jazz underscore.

BALLET APPEARS HERE

Robert Joffrey Troupe Performs. An exuberant young ballet company came to town Tuesday night and showed all of Princeton's eager students how they will dance in a few years if they study hard and learn their lessons well.

Before a McCarter audience containing a high count of children, the Robert Joffrey Theatre Ballet presented five numbers, exhibiting the modern and the classic schools with equal enthusiasm. (An extra ballet was added to the scheduled program of four, making the evening much too long.)

Perhaps the most memorable of the quintet was "Pastorale" first produced by the New York City Ballet in 1957. In this poignant work, a blind man and a girl playing blind man's buff are brought together for a few intense moments before the girl departs and the blind man is left to the loneliness of his darkness. Gerald Arpino danced the blind man with considerable power; Mary Ellen Jackson lacked subtlety as The Girl.

In "Pas des Deesses," Mr. Joffrey has chorcographed a 19th century lithograph depicting three famous ballerinas of the period and the dancer who supported them. Against a black velvet drop, to Chopinesque music, "Pas des Deesses" shows off the ballerinas and their partner with delightfully fluid grace, providing for traditionalists the high point of the evening. The ladies, incidentally, are lovely, but it is tithe Nels Jorgensen who is remembered.

Mr. Jorgenson appears again in "Yesterday's Papers," dancing a newspaper doll and stealing the ballet away from Mr. Arpino's newsboy. Mr. Joffrey likes to present each year a ballet "charged with the excitement of present-day living," according to the program, and although the tribulation of a newsboy trying to peddle his papers hardly seems to fall into that category, the ballet is diverting, largely because Dirk Sanders has choreographed so adroitly to the Bartok Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion, blending music and dance almost step-for-note.

The Joffrey troupe, which revealed some imprecision in the "Soiree Musicale" that began the program, seemed to warm up (quite literally) as the evening progressed. It is a lively and apparently dedicated company. One young ballet student, scarcely 16 herself, said to this reviewer during the recital, "When you write about them, please remember they are very young."

At Bank Reception. The Princeton Bank and Trust Company will present an original painting of "Morven," the Governor's Mansion, to the State of New Jersey in ceremonies at the bank on Monday at 3:45. Governor and Mrs. Robert B. Meyner will be present to accept the picture, painted for the bank by Dudley Morris.

The presentation will be part of the bank's 125th anniversary reception, which will last throughout the afternoon and to which the public is invited. Guests will be given color reproductions of the Morris painting and refreshments will be served.

Commodore Robert F. Stockton, original owner of Morven, was one of the 13 men who founded the bank in 1834. An exhibit of photographs showing the growth of Princeton since that time will be on display at the reception.

FURTHER REVOCATION

Imposed on Dickenson. Barry Dickenson, 22, 59 Leavit Lane, who last week lost his license for 90 days in Borough Court, received an additional 30-day revocation Tuesday when he appeared before Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber. The charge of careless driving also required a $5 payment for court costs.

In Trenton, it was announced by the Department of Motor Vehicles that these Princeton area drivers have been notified of license revocations:

Roosevelt Lockhart, 30, 10 Lytle Street, one-way street violation, traffic light violation and following too closely, 30 days; Sima Miluschewa, 43, 330 State Road, violation of marked lanes, careless driving and two speeding convictions, 60 days; Istvan Rige, 20, Mill Road, Dutch Neck, three speeding, 90 days; Roy J. Kull, 21, RD 1, Monmouth Junction, speeding under "40-70" revocation program, 30 days.

CROSSING GUARD NEEDED

For William-Charlton Corner. Applications are being accepted by the Borough for a new crossing guard position. To be stationed at the corner of William and Charlton Streets, the new guard may be either male or female.

The Borough Safety Committee has strongly recommended covering this corner, and funds have been allocated from the police budget for the current year. Those interested in the position are asked to apply at Borough Hall as soon as possible.

INFORMATION REQUESTED

On Public Library. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce has requested the Borough and Township governments to "lend every effort, now, toward presenting the community with the facts and figures on the present and projected library facilities."

Noting "the relative inadequacies of Princeton's public library facilities," the Jaycees pointed out in their resolution that "growing children and growing communities do not wait for governments to act before growing." The immediate release of all information on present and proposed facilities will enable "our growing community (to) decide whether their growing children will be adequately served," the group said.

The Jaycees have appointed Lawrence Bayern, 152 Terhune Road, as official observer at public meetings of the Township Committee and other Township governing groups. He will attend all such meetings and report to the Junior Chamber on "matters of vital importance to the present and future well-being of the Princeton community." Parents of children from kindergarten to fourth grade will assemble in the eighth grade classroom at 8:45 for the demonstration, while parents of pupils from grades 5-8 will witness it at 7:30. Following the business meeting in the school auditorium, refreshments will be served by Mrs. E. T. Dickey, Mrs. John Fitton, Mrs. Dominick Tamasi and Mrs. Frank Maguire.

HOSPITAL SUED

By Woman over Fall. A fall which Mrs. Ruth Furtick of Hopewell suffered in February, 1957, at Princeton Hospital has resulted in a suit for injuries against the hospital. The case is being heard in Mercer Court, Trenton, before Judge Arthur S. Lane.

Mrs. Furtick charges that insufficient illumination and lack of a proper landing were the reasons for her fall down part of an interior stairway while she was visiting her son. The hospital contends her negligence contributed to the fall.

CANDIDATE NIGHT SET

By West Windsor Democrats. This Tuesday at 8, the regular meeting of the West Windsor Democratic Club will be candidate night, a mass meeting for all voters regardless of membership. Plans are being made for a guest speaker and refreshments will be served.

Formed in February, 1957, the club is sponsoring George Krebs, Princeton Junction, this year for Township Committee. Among its officers are Edwin Justice, president; Norman Douglas, first vice president; Robert Frandsen, second vice president; Mary Zemaitis, recording secretary; Helen McKallam, corresponding secretary; Alice Caples, treasurer; and Martin Caples, Frances Ward and Robert Bell, trustees.

THREE FOUND GUILTY

Of Being Disorderly. James Betts, 36, 116 Witherspoon Street and Elijah Leonard, 57, 60 Leigh Avenue were each fined $25 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams on Monday for fighting. Police said the fight stemmed from a dispute over the amount of money Leonard owed Betts. Betts pleaded self-defense and Leonard guilty to the charge.

Michael Cirullo II, 18, 28 Humbert Street, pleaded guilty, through his attorney, Frank Casey, to three disorderly charges. Cirullo was placed on probation for one year on each charge.

In motor vehicle cases, Magistrate Tams fined John C. Van Cleve, 22, Carson Road, $20 for excessive blowing of his horn; Mrs. Audrey Bennett, 36, 435 Princeton Road, Plainsboro, $20 for speeding, and Sydney Afriat, 34, 1 Evelyn Place, $10 for failure to notify the Motor Vehicle Department of change of address.

CHANGE PLANNED

In Fire Company Membership. At next Tuesday's meeting of Borough Council, a proposal to expand fire company membership will be brought up as an amendment to the present Borough ordinance. The amendment would authorize companies to elect members from both Princeton Borough and Township. The present ordinance prohibits Township residents from serving.

Also scheduled is the public hearing on Hamilton Avenue sidewalk construction. The sidewalks would run between Harrison Street and Snowden Lane. Bids will be received at the same time so that construction can proceed without delay should the ordinance be passed.

The Council will consider the various steps taken on a trial basis in connection with safety problems at Nassau Street School.

SWIMMING FILM SET

At YWCA. Norman C. Buehler, Eastern Area Red Cross representative, will show "Teaching Johnny To Swim," a film produced by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, next Thursday, October 15, at 8.

The schedule:
Monday, October 26: rear of Borough Hall.
Tuesday: Township garage.
Wednesday: Chestnut St. firehouse.
Thursday: Township garage.
Friday: Borough garage, North Harrison.

Dogs who have not received rabies shots this year will not be given licenses.

Did You Know?

Many people in Princeton still come into our store and ask if their repair work has come BACK.

We don't know whether this is a figure of speech or whether you think that we send our work out to be done elsewhere.

Did you know that we do most of our repair work right on the premises?

We have a fully-equipped shop in our basement in order to do engraving, watch and jewelry repairing and some small jobs in silver repairing. We feel that by having this shop right on our premises we are able to give you, our customer, better, less expensive and more efficient service.

SIX ARE SEMIFINALISTS
In Merit Competition

Six Princeton High School seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1959-60 National Merit Scholarship competition. They are Langmuir D. Leverenz, John N. Mather, Jane E. Sommer, Darien A. Gardner, William J. Pasley and Edward R. Beeks.

The Princeton students are among 10,000 semifinalists who outscored 350,000 other high school seniors from 14,500 schools in the Scholarship Qualifying Test administered last spring. The eventual winners of National Merit Scholarships will be selected from this group.

SIX BECOME BOBCATS
In Pack 43. Six members of Cub Scout Pack 43, which meets at the First Presbyterian Church, have received Bobcat pins as new members of the pack. They are Scott Arnott, Jeffrey Frangos, John Mount, Thomas Rose, Michael Skillman and Robert Skillman.

The pack will attend the Princeton-Colgate football game as a group on October 17. Den 3, with a 3-1 record, was declared the winner of last spring's pack softball league. Dens 2 and 4 were runners-up.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
For Christmas Seal Drive. The Mercer County Tuberculosis and Health League has announced that volunteers are needed in the Princeton area for its annual Christmas seal drive.

Those interested should call EX 3-9850. The drive will begin November 16. The Honorable Harry Heher, former supreme court justice of New Jersey, will serve as honorary chairman of the drive.

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

By James S. Hill

I intend to vote for the Republican candidates for the Princeton Township Committee on November 3 for three basic but easily stated reasons past, present, and future.

1. The past Republican Administration's record of outstanding achievement.

2. The present Republican candidates' skills, experience and qualifications.

3. The future promise of continued progress and good government set forth in the candidates' program.

With respect to the past the record speaks for itself. Our Township government, under many years of Republican leadership, has consistently provided progressive, but not irresponsible programs. Its accomplishments include:

1. An intelligent, carefully studied, and practical master plan (already partially adopted) providing for the intelligent growth of our community, new by-pass routes and secondary streets to improve and relieve traffic conditions, additional recreation areas and facilities, and controlled development of residential and commercial areas—all without undue burden on our tax-paying capacity.

2. Major steps toward the acquisition of Community Gardens for park and recreational use.

3. Zoning amendments to permit office ratables in the research park area thus lightening the tax burden of home owners.

4. Initiating and fostering state legislation enabling the establishment of a joint library with the Borough to give us more and better value for our library tax dollars; and pressing for the establishment of such a joint library.

5. Changes in state laws to permit the Township to share the cost of sidewalks with adjoining property owners on an equitable basis. (Princeton Township was the first municipality in New Jersey to share such costs.)

6. A group of courteous and efficient public officials and employees who are not only willing but anxious to assist all of us in every way. Again as a relative newcomer to Princeton, this was one of the pleasant surprises of Township life not found in most other New Jersey communities.

With respect to the present—I believe we are fortunate to have the opportunity to elect men having the qualifications, experience and skills of Tom Cook and Jack Mount. Mr. Mount has been a tireless and conscientious member of the Township Committee since 1956 and has served on the Township Planning Board, the Local Assistance Board, the Sewer Operating Committee, and the Township Board of Health.

In the first eight months of 1959, for instance, he attended 93 official township meetings concerning Township affairs, each of which lasted an average of three hours. Despite this work and his position as Director of The Institute For Wage Earner Opinion, he has found time to serve many community organizations and was named Town Topics' "Man of the Week" in 1958. He is a lifelong Princetonian and a graduate of Princeton University. He deserves re-election.

Mr. Cook, author of several legal articles on zoning and planning, will bring to the Committee an expert's knowledge of this difficult but vital subject. A local attorney, he has served as Deputy Attorney General of the State of New Jersey, Counsel to the State Division of Local Government, and to the State Federation of School Boards.

He has been President of the United Community Fund, and a Director of the Y.M.C.A., Princeton Nursery School, and the County Mental Health Association. His record alone merits my vote.

With respect to the future—the Republican candidates have

DEMOCRATIC

By Woodrow Wirsig

I will vote for Henry Dyer and Richard Frost because I'm eager to see the Township benefit from their demonstrated qualities of sound planning, administrative experience and vigorous leadership to get things done.

I've talked extensively to Mr. Dyer and Mr. Frost and I'm impressed with their grasp of current problems as well as their whole approach to solving the problems that are sure to come. We are going to be faced with excruciating problems in this Township in the next ten years. To cope with these problems, we need men who can develop logical policies and set up an organization to make these policies work. We need sound planning—and action.

Henry Dyer has a distinguished educational and administrative career that admirably fits him for Committee work. In 17 years of solid administrative experience he has been Assistant Dean of Harvard College, Assistant to the Dean of the Faculty at Harvard University, Associate Director of the College Entrance Examination Board and is now a Vice-President of Educational Testing Service.

Mr. Dyer's participation in community activities includes membership on the Building Code Board of Appeals in Princeton Township and membership on the New Jersey Department of Education Committee on Secondary Schools and Colleges. He has long been active in church work and is now an Elder of the Second Presbyterian Church in Princeton.

Richard Frost's education and public service seems to have been especially designed to fit him for membership on the Committee. He has a PhD. from the Maxwell School of Public Affairs, Syracuse University, a school that specializes in problems of local government.

Mr. Frost served in the Office of the Administrator of the Marshall Plan. He worked on the City Planning Commission of Syracuse, N. Y. In addition to serving as Secretary to the President of the New Jersey State Senate, he was executive assistant on the Governor's Commission to study New Jersey's mental health, retardation, correctional and welfare program.

It is especially noteworthy to see Mr. Frost's experience in local government. He is a member of the Committee on Zoning and Planning for the New Jersey County and Municipal Law Revision Commission and is active as a member of the American Society of Planning Officials and the American Society for Public Administration. He is Assistant Professor of State and Local Government at Princeton University.

People such as these will be needed to give some concrete direction to the growth of our Township. I as an interested citizen have been uneasy about the erratic approach to planning here.

It has been slow in coming. It seems the problems are not anticipated, and a bits-and-pieces approach is taken to each difficulty as it arises.

For example, where is the long-term program and time-table to deal with water pollution, or traffic circulation, or the safety of our growing population of school children? Shouldn't we have a set of policies for matters such as these?

Judging from past performance it is hard to have confidence in the continued administration of the present majority party. We can do better than this in Princeton.

To keep the unique character of Princeton we need imaginative administrators — men who can look ahead and give us purposeful action. I feel that Princeton Township is indeed fortunate to have two such unusually qualified candidates as Henry Dyer and Dick Frost.

pledged themselves to a sound progressive program including:

Establishment of a Citizens Committee to induce qualified and beneficial research and business ratables to locate in the Township to reduce further the tax burden on home owners.

Adoption of a master sewer plan and its implementation.

Completion of their program for acquisition of Community Gardens and adjoining property for park and recreation uses.

Continued negotiations with Borough officials to cause them to construct Prospect Street and other streets to implement the Township master plan as soon as possible.

Extension of water mains to areas of the Township where potable water is not now obtainable.

Rerouting of the circulation loop around the heart of Princeton at several points to cause less interference with existing property values and recreation areas, and

Passage of amendments to the Zoning Ordinance to implement and put into effect the proposed master plan.

For these reasons I shall vote Republican. I believe, however, that they are reasons for supporting good local government, not just a Republican government. As such I believe they should influence all residents—Republican, Democratic or Independent to vote for the best qualified candidates with the best and most effective program—Tom Cook and Jack Mount.

TRAFFIC CONTROLS SET

For Nassau St. School. The Borough Traffic Safety Committee has approved a nine-point program to reduce traffic dangers in the congested area of the Nassau Street School. The resolution, proposed by Mrs. Dorothea Lummis, principal of the school, includes the following major recommendations:

● That the Borough Council be requested to provide a paid police officer during school hours at the corner of William and Charlton Streets, where all crossings to and from the school will be made.

● That emergency "No Parking" signs be placed on the south side of William Street between Charlton and Washington Road during school hours. The police chief is authorized to do this under his emergency powers.

● That the University Press and New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., which have offices in the neighborhood, be requested to curtail their traffic during peak times for travel to and from the school.

● That the curb spaces on the west side of Moore Street between Nassau Street and Park Place be expanded and used as an unloading zone for school children. Police Chief Raymond A. Mondone will bag meters in this area as a trial.

● That stanchions with pictures of policemen be placed on the roads around the school, if approved by State traffic authorities, and that school patrols be assigned to assist police at crossings.

● That PTA, school and publicity campaigns be organized to educate parents and children in safe unloading and walking procedures.

These measures, according to the resolution, represent "an attempt to alleviate and possibly overcome" the traffic problems, which, particularly in bad weather, "are the cause for great concern for the safety of the school children."

OPENINGS REMAIN

At Nassau Nursery School. The Nassau Cooperative Nursery School, which began its first term last week, reports a few places are left for four-year-olds.

The school is holding its sessions Monday through Friday mornings from 8:45 to 11:45 at the Friends First Day School on Quaker Road. The fee is $20 a month. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. William Brower, WA 1-6988.

Large and small toys to be used both indoors and outdoors are still needed by the school. Mrs. Joseph Blanc of 95 Cuyler Road will pick up any donations, or they may be left at her home. Her telephone number is WA 4-6175.

Officers of the school, elected by members, are: Frederick Kling and Mrs. Walter Gilbert, co-chairmen; Mrs. John Redding, secretary; Alfred Bernhardt, treasurer; and Mrs. Jacques Pankove, Mrs. Raymond F. Mole, Mrs. Egon Loebner, Mrs. Brower and Mrs. Blanc, members of the board of trustees.

Mrs. Daniel Kolton and Mrs. John Liebenstein, who have had experience with kindergarten and nursery school groups, are the teachers. They are assisted by two mothers on a rotating basis.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION: Sally Pignona, Princeton High School junior, feels there is more public recreation in Princeton than in her former home town of Morristown. Jeff Goedde, PHS senior, isn't so sure that the situation is as satisfactory as it might be. For theirs and other Princetonians' opinion of the adequacy of Princeton's recreational facilities—an issue being raised in the current political campaign—see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you feel that Princeton's recreational facilities are adequate? If not, what additional facilities do you feel are most needed?

Where Asked: Around town.

Mrs. Barbara van de Velde, 87 Olden Avenue, housewife: Ah, a swimming pool! I think there is an old theory that most of the people go out of the town in summer. But I suspect that the people only go out in bits and pieces. Certainly a large segment of the population stays here in summer. I think a community of this size — and with the climate around here — needs an outdoor swimming pool.

D. Don Richards, 231 Nassau Street, radio shop proprietor: I think Princeton has a good public recreation program. They have a good baseball program. And you have your swimming pool at the "Y" now. There are plenty of playground areas. There's Marquand Park for one. The University makes its equipment available to the public. I think Princeton has a lot more than most places.

Mrs. Stanley W. Ackley, 4 Palmer Road, Kendall Park, secretary: I think recreation in Princeton is pretty well covered. The facilities are there. However, the High School could extend its facilities to supervise evening activities. I think parents aren't educating themselves or their children to the fact that they can stay home together and still have a good time. There's no need to go out and stand on street corners.

William Willis, 49 William Street, assistant manager at Woolworth's: To tell the truth, no. There isn't anything to do here but go to the two movie houses or go bowling. I'd like to see Princeton have some kind of dancing in the middle of the week. I'd like some kind of recreation center other than the "Y" where you could play basketball. All I see guys my age doing is riding up and down the streets all night.

Mrs. John Melchor, 28 Green Street, housewife: Playgrounds for the children. Maybe not more playgrounds, but they do need more equipment for the children. I do think they need more playground supervisors. I think the new "Y" has taken care of practically everthing else.

Dan Hagadorn, 51 Chestnut Street, Borough patrolman: No, I don't feel they are adequate. That is one of the reasons the police department organized the police youth program. They should definitely have some larger play areas. I think there should be something done that would capture the teen-agers' interest. Something a little more than the teen-age dance canteen.

Mrs. Dana C. Smith Jr., 29 Wilson Road, housewife: I certainly do not feel they are adequate. Private clubs such as the University and the YMCA are not always available and free to everyone, and hence are no substitutes for planned, public recreational facilities — even though they are extremely generous in making their facilities available to the public.

Ted Hollmann, 13, 15 Linden Lane, Princeton County Day School student: I think they should let more kids play in the Dillon Gym when it isn't in use. They should let the kids use the boxing gloves, and the basketball court as long as they aren't little, little kids.

Betty Rousseau, 17, 731 Kingston Road: No, I think they should have more for teen-agers to do. More dances. They should have the High School Gym open to the public. I know they've talked a lot about it, but nothing has ever been done.

Michael Driver, 225 Halsey Street, assistant in research at Princeton University: I think they're pretty good. The park on Harrison Street seems to be a good idea. What would be ideal, to my mind, would be to get some public swimming facilities of some sort. There are several quarries in this area not being used, which would be particularly desirable for hot summer months. Also, there don't seem to be any public tennis courts available except for people connected with the University. I think they shouldn't discontinue foreign movies here in the summer months. I feel that is an insult to the summer residents.

Jeff Goedde, 16, 314 Western Way, Princeton High School student: I think Princeton should have a place we could go to like Renwick's, but more for teen-agers. I think we spend just as much money there as the college kids do but they seem to have preference there. There should be more dances. They only have one canteen a week and sometimes not even that.

Sally Pignona, 16, 309 Snowden Lane, Princeton High School student: I think there is a lot more here for the kids to do than where I came from (Morristown, N.J.) They have a lot of canteens here. I can't think of anything more to say since I've been here such a short time, other than that it is very nice in Princeton!

Cadillac

THE FLEETWOOD SIXTY SPECIAL

Creating a New Era of Elegance!

The motor cars represented here will soon introduce a new era of elegance to the world's highways.

They are the Cadillac cars of 1960—and, from every standpoint, they represent the Cadillac tradition in its finest hour.

In appearance, they are regal and majestic as never before—a brilliant symphony of line and contour from the sparkling new front grille to the graceful flow of the rear fenders.

In interior decor, they are truly magnificent—featuring luxurious new fabrics and leathers—new convenience and excellence of appointments.

And in the way they drive and handle, they are perfection on wheels. There is a greatly refined engine and transmission that provide even finer performance . . . a ride of unbelievable smoothness and quiet . . . and notable advancements in power steering and braking.

These new Cadillac virtues have been interpreted in thirteen distinctive body styles. Every motorist owes himself an hour at the wheel.

SAFETY RULES LISTED

For Fire Prevention Week. A ten-point program in observance of Fire Prevention Week has been listed by Fire Chief Walter L. Coan. Mr. Coan adds that fire prevention should not be practiced just one week a year but in all 52

Among the fire safety points Chief Coan asks be followed: never smoke in bed; never burn trash on a windy day; never dry clothes above a stove and keep stoves free from grease; never use worn or exposed wires and don't ever load electrical outlets.

Also, never throw water on a grease fire, use baking soda; never use matches or a candle near clothing or other highly inflammable material; store paint and varnish removers in a metal cabinet away from the furnace.

If you smell gas, open a window immediately and call the gas company's emergency service. Finally, and most important, never gamble with childrens' lives by leaving them alone in the house.

ORDINANCE INTRODUCED

To Raise Code Standards. At its regular monthly meeting last week, the Township Board of Health passed on first reading an amendment to the state sanitary code designed to tighten requirements for individual sewage disposal systems. Public hearing on the ordinance will be held at the next regular meeting on October 28.

The amendment reduces from 40 minutes per inch to 20 minutes per inch the length of time required for water to percolate through a test drilling. It also increases by 50 percent the amount of square feet required for the bottom trench of a disposal bed.

At Wednesday's meeting, eight sewer problems were brought before the Board, four of them in the Brookstone area. Decision has been tabled pending a percolation recheck on those properties surveyed by private engineers.

ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

In West Windsor. Another mile of the Princeton-Hightstown Road in West Windsor Township will be improved this fall under a road aid program in which Mercer County and the Federal Government split the costs.

The road improvement project will start at Van Hise's Corner and extend to a point 200 feet east of Rabbit Hill Road. The section ties in with the plan for complete rehabilitation of the route between Princeton Junction and U. S. 130 at Hightstown. The section from Princeton Junction to Van Hise's Corner was finished in 1954 and two sections next to Route 130 in Hightstown were completed in 1956.

According to present plans, the existing high crown road will be

Report from THE MAYOR

O.K. For Workable Program. The Borough has this week received from Norman P. Mason, Administrator of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, a "recertification" of our workable program. This is the seven-point program that is a prerequisite to urban renewal.

Along with the letter of notification came a summary "to inform the public of the work you have done during the past year and of the goals you have set for the future." The Borough also received an impressive certificate for display as evidence of participation in the national urban renewal effort.

Exchange of Views. On a very informal basis, a number of matters of mutual interest were discussed by Borough and Township Mayors with members of Borough Council and the Township Committee. In a constructive exchange of views a number of items were explored.

Among the matters reviewed were some on which early action can be expected. They include the determination to move ahead toward the development of a proposed joint library operating agreement, and a decision to develop well in advance of budget-time some possible formulas by which the fair share of costs for certain municipal services may be determined.

Progress on Radio. The Town of Montclair has sent official word that it has no objection to Princeton's application for the new radio frequency for Borough vehicles.

This should mean early approval of our pending application for the license. The new equipment is already on order and should be ready for installation as soon as word is received from Washington.

Open House Schedule. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" sessions will be held on Thursday, October 8, on Friday, October 16, and Friday, October 23 from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Fire Prevention Week. This is Fire Prevention Week in Princeton. At the request of our fire companies, we should all take this opportunity to remind ourselves to do something about the fire hazards at home or at work. It just makes good sense to make a special effort on this.

Working For Health. A visitor at last Thursday's open house advised the Mayor that this week was being observed throughout the country as National Pharmacy Week. This is an appropriate time for us to salute the members of this important profession. Nearly a score of registered pharmacists in Princeton are an important part of our community health program.

Never Underestimate. . . This first October week is being celebrated in many ways by groups throughout the country. The Princeton Chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs has reminded the Mayor that they are again calling attention to National Business Women's Week in the hope that more of us will acknowledge the tremendous contributions of women in the business and professional life of the Princeton community.

widened from 20 to 42 feet, providing two 12-foot-wide lanes with nine foot shoulder areas. Existing macadam will be replaced by a seven-inch macadam base course, topped by three inches of bituminous concrete.

Incidental drainage improvements and concrete curbs will also be included in the project.

Detours will normally be unnecessary, with existing side roads to be used when construction will not permit a steady flow of traffic.

D.A.R. TO MEET

At Sunny Slope Farm. The Daughters of the American Revolution, Princeton Chapter, will hold its first meeting of the season next Thursday at 2 at "Sunny Slope Farm," home of Mrs. Richard T. Anderson, Cold Soil Road, Lawrenceville.

Mrs. Edward F. Randolph, honorary state Regent and editor of the New Jersey State Bulletin, DAR, will speak about the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Albert C. Cornish, Regent, will preside at the business meeting and Mrs. Anderson will be hostess at tea, assisted by Mrs. John Meyer, Mrs. Everett Wallis and Mrs. Walter Young.

KLEIO MEETING LISTED

For Pennington Club. The Pennington Kleio Club will meet Tuesday at 8 at the home of Mrs. Douglas J. Kersey, Pennington. The Dean of Women of Trenton State Teachers College will talk on the school bond issue.

The main speaker will be Roy J. Kersey who will discuss "Horticulture, Science or Art?" Mr. Kersey is affiliated with the WFIL-TV Garden Club. Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Russell Higginbottom, chairwomen; Mrs. E. W. Wrightson, Mrs. Martin S. Wing, Mrs. Richard Waters and Mrs. Eric W. Turner.

MUSIC

SONG FESTIVAL COMING

Next Week at McCarter. The first United Festival of Song, a unique community enterprise that very few communities in the United States could produce solely from within their own ranks, will be presented next week in McCarter Theatre.

Sponsored by the United Community Fund, it will be offered on Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:15 as a means of publicizing the town's major charitable campaign. The identical program will be presented on each occasion.

Some 300 members of 11 widely varied vocal groups will be heard. Music will range from sacred and classical to folk and contemporary popular selections.

Included on the program will be the famed Westminster Choir, the fine Princeton Theological Seminary Choir, the widely-traveled Columbus Boy Choir, the Princeton University Glee Club, the Princeton High School Choir, GYPSY! Carlos Montoya, flamenco guitarist, who will appear at McCarter Friday night, is a full-blooded Spanish gypsy.

the Princeton Male Chorus and four established organizations which sing popular songs: the Palmer Squares, the Opposite Sextette and the University's Nassoons and Tiger Tones.

It was announced this week that the Columbia Broadcasting System will record one of next week's performances and plans to air it on its national radio network. Because the performers will represent many races, colors and creeds, an "Americana-type" script is being prepared and a nationally-known artist is being sought as narrator for the broadcast.

Tickets for the concerts are priced at $1. They are on sale now at Hinkson's, the Music Center, Princeton University Store, the YM-YWCA, Princeton Hospital and Bamberger's.

PRINCETON FIRST

Then Carnegie Hall. When Erroll Garner appears this Saturday in Alexander Hall, he will be making his only public appearance prior to his Carnegie Hall debut on October 18. The jazz pianist will appear in Princeton under the auspices of C-K Productions.

A year of world-wide acclaim precedes Mr. Garner into Alexander Hall. He has received the Grand Prix du Disque from the French Academy of Art, the accolades of the Downbeat Fan Poll and the Playboy Fan Poll and numerous other awards from England, France, Holland, Belgium and the United States.

Mr. Garner, who made his professional debut at the age of seven, is regarded today as a creative musician of uncompromising honesty. He will play an extemporaneous program accompanied by Edward Calhoun, bass, and Kelly Martin, percussion.

EXTEMPORE: Erroll Garner will bring his jazz piano to Alexander Hall Saturday night.

MONTOYA IN PERSON

At University Store. When Carlos Montoya comes to Princeton this Friday to play his flamenco music in McCarter Theater, he will arrive early in order to appear at the University Store. His appearance there is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Senor Montoya, a full-blooded Spanish gypsy, will give a program of flamenco guitar music for the second time in Princeton in less than six months. Tickets are still available for his Friday night performance.

Dana Attractions has designed a new playbill which will appear for the first time at the Montoya recital. It will feature, for this concert, an article on flamenco and a summary of McCarter Theater's history. Subsequent issues of the two-color playbill will have articles by members of the Princeton faculty.

AMATEURS BEGIN YEAR

With Haydn's "Creation." A performance of Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation," this Sunday at 5:15 will launch the 24th season of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs. The organization will meet at Miss Fine's School.

The purpose of the society is to sing and play the great choral works purely for the pleasure derived from them. There are no public performances, no rehearsals and no try-outs for the chorus. Orchestra members and soloists, some of whom are professionals, are arranged for in advance, however.

The group sings and plays under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp, associate professor of music at Princeton. Mrs. MacKenzie Bryan is the manager of the Amateurs and has served in that capacity since the group was formed in 1936. Since its formation 24 years ago, the group has grown from 25 members to over 300, many of whom come to Princeton from New York and Philadelphia. About 150 persons regularly attend the monthly meetings at Miss Fine's.

For the coming year, Dr. Knapp and Mrs. Bryan have planned the following program: Beethoven's "C Major Mass," November 6; Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," December 6; Bach's Motets, January 10; Bach's "St. John Passion," February 14; Mozart's "Requiem" March 6; Haydn's "Nelson Mass," April 10 and Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis," May 15.

There is a membership fee to cover the cost of music and a small charge for supper. Those who are interested may obtain additional information from Mr. Bryan, WA 4-0453 between 2 and 5 weekdays.

What are the folks doing? Find out fast with a friendly phone call. It costs little. A 3 minute station call clear to Montreal, Canada from Trenton costs only 80¢ after 6 PM—10% tax not included.

BIG ONE SATURDAY

35 Penn Aims for Ivy Title. There will be no frost in the ground and no snowflakes in the air Saturday, but Palmer Stadium will be the scene of a football game that — as much as any early October contest can — will have a major part in determining the winner of this year's Ivy title.

In the past two seasons, a chill November setting has provided the background for the Dartmouth-Princeton contest which crowned the winner as league champion. Now — for the first time in four seasons — Penn has tripped the Indians and for the first time in a dozen years comes into the Princeton contest with a 2-0 mark.

This adds major importance to the game this weekend, which is expected to draw some 30,000 for the 2 o'clock kickoff. The Quakers, who failed to win a game between October, 1953, and the same month three years later, are hoping to complete their climb to the top by gaining an early stranglehold on the 1959 Ivy pennant.

If they have the balance and the power to trim Dartmouth and Princeton on successive Saturdays, only an upset in the remaining weeks will keep them from making a runaway of the race. Meantime, either the Indians or the Tigers would have to win all their remaining games to earn a tie should the Quakers falter once.

Penn Has Great Speed. When a veteran line (every starter a letterman) operates in front of the backfield generally credited with being the fastest in the league, it is apparent that the team so equipped is "a good, solid ball club." That's what Cappy Cappon, who has scouted them for more than 20 years, calls the Quakers.

The Philadelphians operate out of a normal T, a split T and a double wing T. Dave Coffin at one of the halfback positions is the fastest Ivy back, having a 9.8 hundred to his credit as a er on the Penn track team.

Fred Doelling, who pairs with him, is almost as fast and is a better broken field runner. He scored both the Quakers' touchdowns in the 13-0 victory over Dartmouth last weekend.

Larry Pardy is the quarterback, alternating with George Koval, who is the better passer of the two. Jack Hanlon starts at fullback. The Quakers average around 195 in the line, with the backfield a dozen pounds lighter.

Some depth is available, and they tend to substitute by complete teams at the beginning of the game, but speed and experience are their primary assets.

Ivy Football Forecast

PRINCETON over Penn. Tigers to win on line play.

Yale over Columbia. Lions lack punch.

Dartmouth over Brown. Green much the stronger.

Harvard over Cornell. On backfield strength.

Last Week
5 Right, 0 Wrong—1.000

Passing is not (three for nine against Dartmouth), but there is enough of a threat so that the defense cannot ignore it entirely. Princeton, very definitely, figures to have all it can handle Saturday against this resurgent collection of Quakers.

Tigers Roll Despite Errors. Eleven penalties, all of them incurred while it was in possession, frequently raised hob with the Princeton offense against Columbia but the Tigers still managed to account for 376 yards running and passing. With three members of the starting backfield (Dan Sachs, Mike Ippolito and Mike Iseman) all throwing, the attack was almost perfectly balanced in that 184 yards were gained in the air and 192 on the ground.

This mobility was translated into 22 points on the scoreboard, and when the Lions never were able to launch a play from within the Princeton 20. The contest became somewhat one-sided. The Orange and Black went 63 yards in 16 plays early in the first period, covered 75 in eight during the second quarter and finally recovered a blocked kick to launch a 46-yard drive that also required eight plays to achieve a touchdown.

The Tigers' most dangerous weapon was a fullback pass with the tailback as the receiver. Ippolito pitched beautifully twice to Sachs, the first loss bringing a touchdown on a play that covered half the field.

The second, thrown out of a third and 11 situation, chewed up 30 yards and set up the final score. This "battery" was reversed at one point during the game, Sachs throwing to Ippolito for a 29-yard gain. The versatility the big triplethreat fullback shows will be a major asset to Princeton this fall. (See "We Congratulate," page 24.)

Donelli Is Complimentary. Although naturally disappointed over his team's inability to handle the Tigers (it was the New Yorkers' ninth straight loss to them), Columbia coach Buff Donelli lost no time in the post-game press conference in praising the Princetonians.

"There is no doubt that Princeton is a better team than it was —Continued on Page 24

MIKE IPPOLITO
Princeton Fullback

The thousands who hank Palmer Stadium Saturday for the major Ivy League football game between Princeton and Pennsylvania will see a real rarity a passing fullback. Big Mike Ippolito, a 203-lb. triple-threat in his own right, has veteran Tiger followers digging back into their memories, trying to recall when the Orange and Black last could field such a player and as of the moment, no one has the answer.

In the Columbia game last week, when Princeton was hanging onto a slim 6-point lead against a vastly-improved Lion eleven, the Tigers were bogged down in a third-and-11 situation near midfield Faking a bendoff, Ippolito faded to pass and promptly threw a strike to Dan Sachs on the Lion 16, the Tiger tailback legging it into the end zone.

Another Ippolito - to - Sachs pass was instrumental in setting up the third Princeton TD His record for the day was two for two as a passer, while the other statistics gave him a fine 4.3 average carrying the ball, total offense of 111 yards

The top for any Princeton back; a 36-yard punting average and the Tigers' first TD.

On the strength of all that, it was a lead-pipe cinch that big Butch should win the fullback's place on the All-East team picked after last Saturday's games. Most fullbacks are charged solely with lugging the ball through the middle and blocking for the other ball carriers, but Ippolito's triple-threat qualities did much to quiet the stubbornest Columbia eleven Princeton has played in the last dozen seasons.

It is just such versatility that is creating a permanent place for the Long Branch High School alumnus in Princeton records. He is sure to be the only Princeton football player ever to win a letter for playing three different backfield positions — wingback as a sophomore and quarterback last year before returning to the fullback position he filled so well in the unbeaten freshman team three years ago. His knack of fitting in almost anywhere extends to baseball, where he has pitched, played first and held down every outfield position for the Tigers.

Princeton has an extremely tough opponent Saturday in Pennsylvania. If the Tigers manage to top the unbeaten Quakers, it's a solid bet that a major reason will be the contributions of Mike Ippolito a jack of all trades who has mastered each one he has tried.

a year ago," the Lion coach told sportswriters in the Columbia field house. He felt this was particularly true in its defensive ability, and in its depth.

The Lions, he, were considerably more impressive than they have been in a number of years —a factor worth stressing since there were only two seniors on their first two teams. The Light Blue reserve unit included ten sophomores — who had trouble handling Princeton this year but are sure to improve as they gain experience.

Columbia's much-publicized "muddle huddle" proved an actual handicap as matters turned out The New Yorkers used the spread formation to run only three plays — the last an ill-advised quick kick which tackle Bob Fisher blocked. It was recovered on the Columbia 46 and set the stage for Princeton's final touchdown.

In addition to downgrading his team for its tendency to incur costly penalties, Dick Colman was none too pleased with the general calibre of the line play. "We'll have to be a lot better to beat Penn," he commented.

The Tiger coach approved of Hugh Scott's performance in a reserve tailback capacity Saturday. The versatile junior averaged 5.4 yards each time he carried the ball, completed three of five passes and scored eight points

Penn Game Hard to Pick. For a great many reasons, the outcome of Saturday's game with Pennsylvania is difficult to predict. Even the background of the series appears to play a part: of the last eight games between the two old rivals, seven have been decided by seven points or less.

Confronting the Tigers is the fact they have not often played topflight ball against the Red and Blue Penn, on the other hand, would literally rather win this one than its traditional Thanksgiving Day clash with Cornell. It will be up, and up high, for Saturday's Palmer Stadium battle.

Loss of Dan Sachs is a rough blow, not because Hugh Scott lacks anything as his replacement but because a solid shift in backfield personnel will be required to fill the gap. Expectations are that Mike Iseman, a tailback as a freshman, with switch from wingback to replace Scott, with the latter starting. Ron Goldman will step into the starting assignment at wingback, with John MacMurray, injured in the Lehigh scrimmage, available now as Goldman's replacement.

No Princeton back, particularly with Sachs out, can match Coffin's speed, and Doerling is likewise a major threat. The Quakers match Princeton strength in the line at end and center, and are in general a veteran aggregation unlikely to beat themselves with errors.

The Tigers have as much potential at this time of year as any team since the championship era of 1950 and '51. There is somewhat greater depth than in recent seasons, and the line problems at guard and tackle have generally been solved by the solid performances of a number of players there.

The backfield has adequate speed, a fine fullback and unusual versatility stemming from the fact that the three primary ball carriers can all pass. On the belief that Princeton can, match Penn in the line and launch a slightly better balanced offense, the pick here goes to the Tigers.

- PHS BLANKS FREEHOLD

Wins Second Straight, 12-0. The passing of Jack Hawkins and five Freehold fumbles, four of them recovered by Princeton High School, paved the way to a 12-0 victory over the Freehold Colonials Saturday on the losers' field. The little Tigers, who in two games have held their opponents to one touchdown, travel this Saturday to face the Leonardo High School eleven which PHS beat last year, 7-0. Leonardo lost its opening game last week to Long Branch, 41-0.

The Little Tigers wasted little time in scoring against Freehold, marching 41 yards in six plays the first time they had possession of the ball. Starting on the Freehold 41, Hawkins knifed through the home team to the 29. In quick succession, the agile tailback circled end for five more and passed to wingback Russ Perone, who was pulled down on the five.

Fullback Ted Meredith was unable to dent the Colonial forward wall and Hawkins lost four in trying to turn the Freehold end. On the next play, Hawkins again hit Perone deep in the end zone with a nine-yard buck lateral pass. Ridge Applegate's try for extra point was wide.

The Little Tigers appeared as if they might add another quick touchdown after Gil Fischer recovered the first of many Freehold fumbles on the losers' 40. Hawkins and Meredith's running and a Hawkins to Perone pass carried them to Colonial 18. The drive ended when Meredith fumbled the ball, the only such error Princeton was to commit all afternoon.

Little Tigers Score Again. Midway in the second quarter, Hawkins returned a Freehold punt 30 yards down the sidelines to the Colonial 35. Three Blue and White passes were broken up, but on fourth down, Hawkins, faking a punt, passed to Perone who managed to elude two tacklers before being stopped on the 20. Hawkins, finding the range again, hit end Ridge Applegate with a five-yarder over the line and then hit Perone again in the flat, who darted in for the TD. Hawkins' pass to Dick Olsen for the PAT was broken up.

Penn Game on TV

The Princeton-Pennsylvania football game will be televised Saturday from Palmer Stadium. It may be seen over the NBC network, Channel 4, New York, and Channel 3, Philadelphia, beginning at 1:45.

The contest has been chosen as the top game in the East, and will be seen on a regional basis as part of the Game-a-Week program authorized by NCAA policy. The Tigers were last seen on television in November, 1958, from the Yale Bowl in New Haven.

Freehold's only threat came early in the third quarter. After an exchange of punts, Freehold, starting on its own 31 drove to the PHS 24, before the Blue and White defense stiffened and Freehold lost the ball on downs. Halfback Ray Dent, the only Colonial runner to have any success against the Little Tiger defense, accounted for most of the gains, including a 30-yard dash right through the center of the Little Tiger line for Freehold's best effort of the afternoon.

PHS Defensive Play Shines. Throughout the second half, some fine defensive play by the Little Tigers successfully protected their two-touchdown lead. With Harvey Clark and Applegate recovering two more Freehold fumbles and with Dave Wright and Dave Kilgour breaking through and throwing the Colonial backs for losses, Coach Hal Schanck's eleven never threatened.

With two minutes left to play, PHS took over on downs on its own 25. Princeton's reserve eleven, led by the passing of Bruce Sandvick and the running of Allan Wood, moved the ball to the Freehold four-yard line before Allan Wood, moved the ball to the Freehold four-yard line before time ran out.

Statistics point out how thoroughly PHS dominated play in the first half, the Little Tigers racking up eight first-downs while holding Freehold to three and completing nine of 15 passes. The losers could connect only three times in eight tries.

One of the reasons for Princeton's success as pointed out by Coach Joe Jingoli, was the offensive blocking of Dave Me-

Kee, John Chobrda, Chas Tindall, Wright and Kilgour. Jingali also) mentioned the fine defensive game played by Howard Gould, Dick Olsen, Sandy Jick and Clark and added, "Jack Copeland called a good game for us."

The spate of its 41-0 doubling last week, Jingali doesn't consider Leonardo to be a "breather" by any means, commenting, "We expect to be in for a rough ball game." He pointed out that Leonardo uses the old Notre Dame box formation, and "while it may not dazzle you with tricky plays, it wears you down by grinding out a steady two, three or, four yards every play. We don't know how many games we'll win Jingali reported, "but we expect to give the other teams a lot of trouble this year."

HUN STOPPED IN OPENER

Loses to Pennington, 28-6. Hampered by a string of injuries in dropping its opener to Pennington the Hun School journeys to Solebury Friday to face the Saints at 3:30. The Saints have won their first two games, beating Germantown Friends of Philadelphia last week 28-0 and Hun coach, Hawley Waterman, reports, "we are expecting a very tough contest."

Things might have been different for Hun which beat Pennington 33-0 last year if injuries hadn't decimated its starting eleven. A starting tackle, 190-pound Dave Snyder, was injured on the first play and his services lost for the rest of the game. Co-captain and fullback John Ward was hurt on the second play from scrimmage and had to leave the contest and Whit Hagerman, a second tackle, had his nose broken on the game's third play and will be out for the rest of the season.

The Hun carriers continued until mid-way in the fourth quarter when with the score 21-0 in favor of Pennington, Coach Waterman pointed out, "the absence of the Jewish holidays kept a couple Hun players from seeing action. Pennington has a good team and played a good game last week — I'm not taking anything away from them — but I honestly think that we might have won if we hadn't run into all those injuries," Waterman said.

Despite the injuries, it was anybody's ball game until the fourth quarter. The teams matched TDs in the second quarter, Paul Kindle, climaxing an 81-yard Hun drive with an 11-yard carry. A successful PAT run by Jerry Kyle, who tallied three times for the visitors, gave them an 8-6 edge.

Pennington broke the game open in the final quarter scoring twice on drives of 66 and 19 yards and once on a 50-yard pass interception in the final 15 seconds of play. It marked Pennington's first victory in three years.

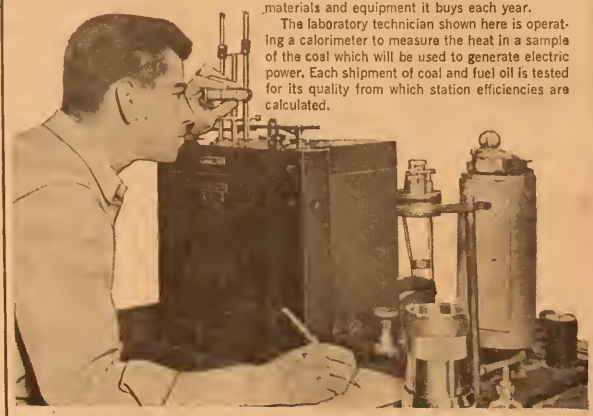
WORKING Behind YOUR SWITCH

As part of its program to produce and deliver electricity to your home as efficiently and economically as possible, Public Service maintains its own laboratory for testing the millions of dollars worth of materials and equipment it buys each year.

The laboratory technician shown here is operating a calorimeter to measure the heat in a sample of the coal which will be used to generate electric power. Each shipment of coal and fuel oil is tested for its quality from which station efficiencies are calculated.



Here is just one more example of what is going on behind your electric switch . . . work which results in keeping your electric service economical.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED

In Kendall Park. A new community Presbyterian Church will be officially organized on Charter Night, this Saturday, at 8 in the all-purpose room of the Cambridge School. Seven ministers of the New Brunswick Presbytery, including the organizing pastor, Dr. Jarvis S. Morris, will bring into being the Presbytery's first new church in nearly 35 years.

The worship service on Charter Night will be led by the Moderator of the Presbytery, the Rev. Homer Roberts-Horsfield of Ringoes. Other Presbytery pastors who will participate include the Rev. William Foden, Dayton; the Rev. Henry Heaps, Kingston; and the Rev. David Crawford, Second Presbyterian Church, Princeton.

To form the church, approximately 115 charter members will be received who will elect and install nine elder-trustees and 12 deacons. C. Kenneth Leonard is chairman of the nominating committee which is working to present a slate of officers to the congregation for its approval. A committee to select and present a permanent name for the church is being led by the chairman, Dr. James H. Ware.

A full church program has been brought about in only a few months. Two choirs and three women's clubs have been started and discussion groups are currently meeting five nights a week.

Kendall Park has a Presbyterian church, rather than a church belonging to some other denomination, because the Comity Committee of the New Jersey Council of Churches made a survey of the Kendall Park population and found that there were twice as many Presbyterians as there were members of other Protestant denominations.

This means that the Presbyterians will have Kendall Park to themselves, so to speak. Other Protestant denominations do not move into an area if the Comity Committee's report indicates that a given denomination is predominant.

It has four bedrooms, two-and-a-half baths, a den or guest room, a wood-paneled recreation room with fireplace and a 2-car garage. And every model has special distinctions... supremely beautiful planning for all requirements and tastes. Only 30 homes will be built on these choice 30 acres. We suggest an early visit.

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods, Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.
